THE POSSESSED PRINCESS.

TABLET OF RAMESES XII.

TRANSLATED BY
S. BIRCH, LL.D.

THE Inscription of the departure of the ark of Khonsu or Chons, is found on a sandstone tablet in the Bibliothèque Nationale at Paris. The tablet has been published by M. Prisse, Monuments Égyptiens, fo. Paris, 1847, pl. xxiv.; and a translation by S. Birch, Transactions of the Royal Society of Literature, New Series, 1853, Vol. IV. p. 217, the text and translation of the inscription by the late Vicomte Emmanuel De Rougé, Étude sur une stèle Égyptienne, 8vo., Paris, 1858 and a translation only by M. Brugsch, Histoire d’Égypte 4to. Berlin 1859 p. 206. The monarch in whose reign the event took place is supposed to be Rameses XII. of the XXIst dynasty but there is some difficulty about the succession of these later monarchs of the XXIst dynasty, as the discoveries of new papyri and documents have had the effect of displacing Rameses X.

An idea has been started by the Rev. D. Haigh in the Zeitschrift fur ägyptische Sprache und Alterthumskunde 1874 p. 65, that Bakhten was connected with Assyria and that the king of the land of Bakhten mentioned in the tablet was Tiglath-Pileser I., but it cannot be considered as proved without further confirmation. The inscription is one of the most remarkable of the ancient Egyptian Monuments and records the possession of a princess of the land of Bakhten by a spirit or demon and the exorcism of the spirit by the Egyptian god Khonsu or Chons sent specially from Egypt for that purpose; similar possessions appear to have been not unknown to the Assyrians and Babylonians and an incident of these possessions is found in the Book of Tobit. It is clear from the name of the princess that she was of the Semitic race and that the country to which she belonged was some distance from Egypt.
THE POSSESSED PRINCESS.

Scene representing the departure of the ark of the god Khonsu or Chons borne by twelve priests and accompanied by two others one reading, the ark having a feather standard in front and a flabellum behind. The ark is called "Khonsu in Egypt Neferhetp." Before the ark stands Rameses XII. wearing a helmet and tunic offering burning incense to the god. Over the head of the monarch is a vulture flying holding a signet. The inscriptions here read, "The King of the Upper and Lower Egypt, the Lord of the two countries Ra-tsers-ma, Satp-en-ra the Son of the Sun of his race Rameses beloved of Amen, beloved of Nisem, Giver of eternal life gives incense to (his) father Khonsu in the Uas' Neferhetp. The protection of life behind all (his) limbs."

On the right side is seen the return of the ark of Chons borne by a pole on the shoulders of 4 priests and met by Ha-neter-neb, the priest of the god offering fire. All the priests wear sandals, and scull caps. The inscription reads "Beloved of Khonsu the Giver of oracles in the Uas,' the great god, driver away, of possessing, Giver of life like the Sun. The name of the Prophet, Priest of Khons the Giver of oracles in Uas,' Khons-pa-neter-neb." Above the scene is the usual winged disk called "Hut, the great god, Lord of Heaven."

His Majesty was a second time before Khonsu, in Uas (called) Neferhetep, saying "My good Lord I am again before you on account of the daughter of the Chief of the land of Bakhten." Then was led Khonsu, in Uas (called) Neferhetep, to Khonsu the Giver of oracles, the great god, expeller of possessors. Then said His Majesty before Khonsu, in Uas (called) Neferhetep "My good Lord wouldst thou turn thy face to Khonsu the Maker of oracles, the great god chaser of possessors let him go to the land of Bakhten by a very great favour?" Then said His Majesty "Give thy protection with him." I let His Majesty go to the land of Bakhten to save the daughter of the Prince of Bakhten.
