THE INSCRIPTION OF DARIUS

AT THE TEMPLE OF EL-KHARGEH.

TRANSLATED BY

S. BIRCH, LL.D.

The inscription, which is inedited, was copied by Mr. Robert Hay from the south-western wall of the second chamber of the temple of Amen at El-Khargeh.¹ The representations which occur after the first line of the original are those of the four elements divided into the male and female principle, and described by M. Lepsius in a paper written by him for the Berlin Academy.² They are represented snake-headed and frog-headed, holding their hands up in adoration. They are as follows:—

Lines 2—4

Nu (Han) ... water, male.
Nut (Han.t.) ... water, female.
Hehu ... fire, male.
Hehu t ... fire, female.

¹ The copy is at present in the British Museum, Add. Manuscript, No. 29,847, fol. 89.
Kakiu ... earth, male.
Kakiu t ... earth, female.
Karh ... air, male.
Karh t ... air, female.

In this series they follow the ordinary order, and have their usual names, the only exception being that of instead of the word Nau, for “air,” the inscription of El-Kharga gives Karh. This word has no philological analogy with any of the Egyptian expressive of air. It has been supposed to mean “care;”' the word nearest to it in sound is karh, “the night.” The inscription which is really a highly pantheistic hymn consists of forty-six lines, and contains the address of the Elements to the god Amen Ra. It has been numbered in the copy inversely, the 46th being the first list. It is of the nature of some of the hymns already published and relating to that god, and may be compared with the Litany of the Sun already contained in this volume. This translation, together with the original text has been published by myself in the Transactions of the Society of Biblical Archeology, Vol. V., p. 293, foll.

THE INSCRIPTION OF DARIUS
AT THE TEMPLE OF EL-KHARGEH.

1 Said by the adorers in praying to their father Amen Ra, lord of Hab, a great god, powerful with the scimitar,

The apes of Thoth adore, saying oh the god in the disk concealing himself in his body, the soul gleaming from his two symbolic mortal eyes, the type of types, the honoured, not falling to his enemies, giving light to his transformation, he supports them by the light of his two mystical eyes, unknown is his . . . . Hail to thee in the bosom of heaven, ordering thy divine births, the goddess Truth is united to thy mystical throne. Honoured has been thy image by thy lovers, thou hast shone, distributing the light in the morning, thou hast circled the two lands in thy gleaming. Thou hast touched at the hill of the land of Akar,3 the types in it adore, the light of the body of thy beams . . . .1 has been illumined4 the bosom of the jackals hauling thy boat in the hidden gap of the land of Sesen,6 and the Spirits of the West, adoring thee, they tremble at thee at the light of thy disk. The spirits of the land of Pe6 salute thee at the appearance of thy light. Thou shinest in their faces, thou traversest thy two heavens; annihilated are thy opponents. They open the house of thy majesty; tame are the crocodiles, quiet are the herons in the waters of thy boat; thou hast . . . .1 the fish. Horus has pierced Set, his arrow is in him.
